The man with the Hoe,
(Written after seeing Millet's world-famous picture)

Hewed by the weight of centuries he leans
Upon his hoe and gazes on the ground,
The emptiness of ages in his face,
And on his back the burden of the world.
Who made him dead to rapture and despair,
A thing that grieves not and that never hopes,
Stolid and stunned, a brother to the ox?
Who loosened and let down this brutal jaw?
Whose was the hand that slanted back this brow?
Whose breath blew out the light within his brain?
Is this the thing the Lord God made and gave
To have dominion over sea and land ;
To trace the stars and search the heavens for power ;
To feel the passion of Eternity ?
Is this the dream he dreamed who shaped the suns
And marked their ways upon the ancient deep ?
Down all the stretch of Hell to its last gulf
There is no shape more terrible than this -
More tongued with censure of the world's blind greed -
More filled with signs and portents for the soul -
More fraught with menace to the universe .
What gulf's between him and the seraphim
Slave of the wheel of labour, what to him
Are Plato and the swing of the Pleiades ?
What the long reaches of the peaks of song,
The rift of dawn the reddening of the rose ?
Through this dread shape the suffering ages look;
Time's tragedy is in that aching stoop ;
~~HOPELESS AND DROWNED~~
Through this dread shape humanity betrayed,
